Notre Dame: 'School No One Knows'

University Work Overshadowed by Football Prowess

By HAL BOYLE

SOUTH BEND, Ind., (AP)—There is no truth to reports that students at the University of Notre Dame sleep on footballs at night instead of pillows.

I visited Notre Dame's beautiful 1760-acre campus the other day for the first time. It was alive with flying birds, but I didn't see a single flying football.

(Editor's Note: Spring practice ended the week before.)

The university currently is engaged in trying to enlarge its endowment fund, one of the smallest of any major educational institution in the country. It is also engaged in a big building program, including a new science hall and the 1951 football team.

The factuity and students at Notre Dame are just as proud of the Fighting Irish's football prowess as millions of fans across the nation are. But football isn't quite the cult here that jealous rivals sometimes believe it to be.

Here Are Some Facts

Here are some facts about Notre Dame that don't usually hit the sports pages:

It was founded in 1842 by Father Sorin and six French brothers of the Congregation of Holy Cross. Their entire capital: $400—and faith.

Once they were so short of shoes the brothers had to take turns going out in the winter. Another time they sold a cow for 50 cents in order to buy an ax.

The original 10-acre campus has expanded to more than 1700 acres. It includes two lakes, athletic fields, 45 buildings and an 18-hole golf course.

Strict Discipline

The student body of nearly 5,000 lives under a discipline almost as rigid as that at West Point and Annapolis. They "eat, sleep, study, pray and play" on the campus. There are 13 residence halls—but no fraternities.

A student may pass an individual course with a grade of 70. But to be graduated or to compete in intercollegiate athletics he has to maintain an average of 77.

The basic tradition at Notre Dame is spiritual, not athletic. About 10 per cent of its student enrollment is Protestant. Its alumni include prominent Protestant clergymen and Jewish rabbis. Its board of lay trustees has been headed by a Protestant.

Wrong Impression

About eight per cent of the university's gross income comes from football receipts. Much of this goes to help needy students. Some 15 to 25 per cent of the student body earn part of their expenses.

Some here feel that because of the overshadowing publicity given its football teams the real Notre Dame has become "The school nobody knows."

But the university sums up its own aims in two statements:

"Knowledge of God is the beginning of all wisdom."

The purpose here is to teach students "not only how to make a living, but also how to live."

Infantry Men Fight See-Saw Ground Action

Reds Build Again In Eastern Sector Of Fighting Front

TOKYO — (AP) — Allied troops advanced in Western Korea today, probed an ominous Chinese buildup on the east-central front, and fought to stem a Red sweep in the east.

Infantry troops waged see-saw battles in the eastern mountains 25 miles south of parallel 38. Communist troops were trying to expand a wedge driven in South Korean lines near Soksa.

Front line reports said South Koreans were forced to adjust their lines for 25 miles eastward to the sea of Japan. All dispatches referring to this action were heavily censored.

This fighting was on the eastern flank of the heroic U. S. Second division which hacked four Chinese corps to pieces in a Red offensive started last Wednesday.

Patrols Probe Northward

Second division patrols probed northward Tuesday into a new force of 130,000 Chinese reported massing north of their lines for a new strike.

AP Correspondent William C. Baranrd said the new Allied aggressiveness and the enemy buildup indicated a showdown battle.

However, AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported scouts found no sizable Chinese concentrations immediately in front of the Second division Tuesday afternoon. Only small groups were spotted by planes hunting through the clouds and two tank patrols which reconnoitered more than a mile into no-man's-land.

Planes Attack

Planes and artillery hacked at Reds withdrawing on the west central and western fronts.

In the far west a strong task force stabbed deep into enemy territory and South Koreans pushed within five miles of parallel 38.

The Communists put up only light resistance to the United Nations advance, AP Corespondent Nate Polowetzky reported from U. S. Eighth Army headquarters. Allied troops pushed ahead two miles and more Tuesday morning.

An Eighth Army officer said the withdrawals were being made by small Communist contingents.

South Koreans Pursue

Reds were reported withdrawing across the Imjin river northwest of Seoul. Pursuing South Koreans marched through Munsan for the

Here's How the Convention Was Rigged, Mr. Voter

On Thursday night, May 17, there appeared in the Dixon Evening Telegraph a political advertisement entitled:

"VOTE REPUBLICAN."

Its sub-head read:

"FAIR PLAY."

The first sentence in the advertisement was:

"THE AMERICAN VOTER BELIEVES IN FAIR PLAY."

The fourth paragraph in the advertisement was as follows:

"THESE ARE THE FACTS."

* * * *

And the rest of the advertisement was devoted to justifying the action of the 21 committeemen, who did, and do constitute a majority of the Lee County Central Committee, who signed the advertisement; Mr. Pires, the present state's attorney and candidate for circuit judge, and H. C. Warner, chairman of the Lee County Central Committee.

* * * *

Now let us refer to "FAIR PLAY" and "THE FACTS":

1—Is it not a fact that with the exception of one or two of the committeemen who signed the advertisement that they pledged themselves, BEFORE THEY WERE EVEN ELECTED, to vote at the county judicial convention for Morey C. Pires, and thus, eliminate every other Republican lawyer in Lee county?

2—Is it not a fact that this pledge was made many months before the respective committeemen were even elected?

3—Is it not a fact that the two or three, at the most, who were newly-elected on April 11, 1950, within a comparatively short number of hours after their election pledged themselves to Morey C. Pires before the convention, thus eliminating every other possible candidate in Lee county?

4—The result of all this—Is it not a fact, that if these committeemen pledged themselves to Mr. Pires before they were elected, or within a few hours thereafter, and made good on their pledge, and they did, that the Lee county judicial convention was all over, in effect, 11 months and 24 days before it was even called on March 5, 1951?

* * * *

One of the committeemen who signed the advertisement has publicly admitted that he was called out of bed at 11 o'clock at night, either the night before he was elected, or the night he was elected, to sign the pledge, and he did sign it.

We ask any one of the committeemen who signed the advertisement, Mr. Pires or Mr. Warner if the foregoing statements are not facts?

* * * *

Then we would like to ask if that is "FAIR PLAY" to the voters in their respective precincts? Before they were elected they already pledgd themselves to do just exactly what they did do—nominate Morey C. Pires. You gentlemen explain that to the voters in your precincts and the voters of Lee county.

* * * *

Eliminating every other possible consideration of the entire problem in connection with the judicial election, we would like to have any one of the committeemen, Mr. Pires or Mr. Warner justify that kind of "FAIR PLAY."

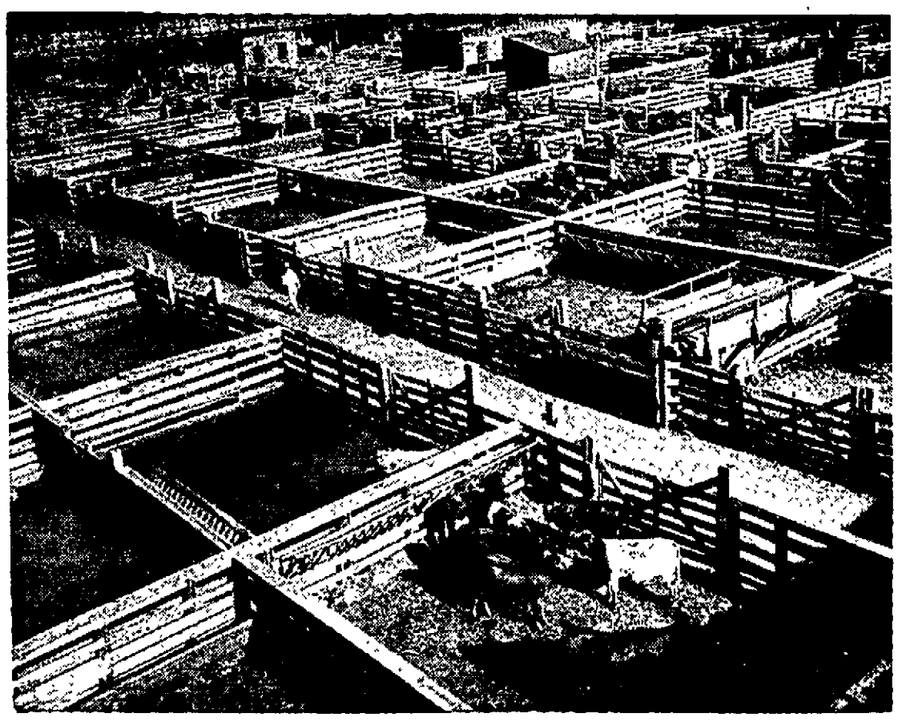
The political advertisement referred to, closed with the statement:

"WE BELIEVE THE VOTING PUBLIC SHOULD KNOW THE FACTS."

That's exactly what we believe.

5—Are the foregoing statements the editor has just made the facts, or are they not?

THE EDITOR.



CATTLE RECEIPTS DROP—Many pens are empty at the Chicago Union Stock Yards as cattle receipts at midwestern markets dropped in response to Office of Price Stabilization order rolling back prices on live beef. Receipts at Chicago during the first day of the new order were 7,000 head compared to 16,829 a week ago and 10,321 for the same day last year.

Receipts Drop, Prices Go Up As OPS Beef Plan Is Invoked

CHICAGO—(AP)—Cattle receipts at the nation's stockyards dropped and prices generally advanced yesterday in the first market session under the government's rollback of livestock prices.

Some observers said, however, that it was too early to judge the effect of the cattle ceiling order which is part of the government's campaign to cut meat prices.

The full effect of the order by the Office of Price Stabilization, one OPS official said, cannot be gauged until next week. Actually, the cattle price ceilings are not in effect for most buyers. The OPS order calls for payment by packers of prices to average 10 per cent below those of January during the accounting periods which begin May 20 or thereafter.

But many packers will not begin new accounting periods until June 4. Then, although average prices for the period must be at least 10 per cent under January averages, comparatively high prices may still be offered for some lots.

Yesterday's receipts at 12 principal markets were 41,100 as compared to 77,700 on Monday, May 14, and 68,800 a year ago. Prices were generally 50 cents per 100 pounds higher than Saturday. Some vealers sold $1 higher.

The government's beef control price program has had little effect on the cost of steaks and roasts bought by housewives at meat markets. But under the OPS program, the government hopes to have meat prices reduced eight to 10 cents a pound after Oct. 1.

Michael V. DiSalle, federal price stabilization director, says controls will not bring back rationing. He says the order is fair and necessary.

But packers and stockmen testifying at a hearing in Washington yesterday on a bill to extend the Defense Production Act said the controls won't work. The Defense Production Act provides for wage-price controls.

Chicago Bears Sign Irish Quarterback

CHICAGO, (AP)—All-America quarterback Bob Williams of Notre Dame, who last season flipped the most passes ever thrown by an Irish player, today was signed by the Chicago Bears of the National Football league.

The daring Irish signal caller, No. 1 on the Bears' draft list is expected to be the top understudy as Bear quarterback to another ex-Notre Dame star, John Lujack. Williams was signed to a three-year contract, but other terms were not disclosed.

Williams was selected as quarterback on the 1950 Associated Press defensive All-America team.

Two Former Dixonites Auto Victims

A former Dixon resident and her 13-year-old daughter were killed Sunday in an auto accident near Clifton, Ill.

Mrs. Ethel Hatch, 49, and her daughter, Barbara, 13, died when their car collided headon with another auto. The Hatches resided at 1002 W. Hill st., Champaign.

The Hatches lived here about seven years ago on North Dixon avenue.

Survivors include the husband, Roy, and a son, Robert, 7.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Wednesday in Champaign.

Jack Leer Leaves Hospital After Auto Injuries

INDIANAPOLIS, IND. — Jack Leer, 20, Dixon, a student at Butler university, was released from a hospital here yesterday after treatment of a fractured leg and ankle he incurred in an auto accident early Saturday.

Leer, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Leer, 116 Boyd st., Dixon, has fractures of his right leg and ankle. His companion, James Stewart, Anderson, Ind., has also been released after treatment of minor injuries. Stewart was listed as being "critical."

The Dixon youth was removed to his residence, the Irving B. Countrymans, 5755 N. Jersey st., Indianapolis. His mother is with him. The Countrymans are former Dixon residents.

Both young men were hurt when their auto struck a ditch while attempting to avoid hitting a culvert.

Chances Based On Failure of Red Offensive

Mac's 'Ultimatum' Blocked Earlier Effort, He Says

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Gen. Omar Bradley said today the U. S. military high command hopes a Korean peace can be negotiated if United Nations troops "bump off" the present Communist offensive.

Testifying at senate hearings, into the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Far Eastern commander, Bradley said that military men had hoped in March that some peace move could be made. He added:

"We still hope that we will be in a position to again propose something through the United Nations which would end up in negotiations and cessation of hostilities."

Truce Effort Dropped

Bradley said that the March truce effort had to be abandoned when Gen. Douglas MacArthur served what Secretary of Defense Marshall described as an "ultimatum" on the Chinese commander in the field. This was a MacArthur proposal for a ceasefire which carried also an implication the war might be widened if the Chinese commander did not accept it.

President Truman has said he made up his mind to dismiss MacArthur from the Far Eastern commands because of this move.

Bradley made it plain that Korean strategy has been keyed for weeks now to the hope peace negotiations might follow if the Communists' spring offensive was met and broken.

Smith Asks Question

Before today's hearing started, Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said he wants to know whether Secretary of State Acheson shared in a 1950 presidential decision to

No Communist, Jose Ferrer States in Quiz Appearance

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Academy award winner Jose Ferrer told the house un-American activities committee today he was no Communist and no sympathizer with Communist causes.

Any part he took in Communist front activity, he said, was in the role of an innocent victim of Communist big name hunters.

Ferrer's testimony to the committee made the same points he had volunteered in a statement before his appearance.

The Puerto Rican-born actor, whose starring role in "Cyrano de Bergerac" won him this year's movie Oscar for the best male performance, was an agreeable witness in the committee's investigation of Communist infiltration of Hollywood.

Listed by Committee

Ferrer was listed by the committee, in its recent report on the Communist "peace offensive," as a sponsor of the 1949 scientific and cultural conference for world peace which it designated as a Red front activity.

He is also listed as one of the sponsors having affiliation with five to ten organizations the committee called Communist fronts.

Ferrer wrote to Committee Chairman Wood (D-Ga) that from 1944 to 1950 he had "casually and freely—without adequate investigation" permitted use of his name by many organizations. He said these included groups which have not been accused of Communist leadership, as well as some later designated as Communist fronts.

He said he let his name be used from an innocent desire to help the underprivileged, and never knowingly supported a Communist or a Communist front.

'Not a Communist'

"I am not and have never been a Communist sympathizer," his letter said. "I am and have always been opposed to Communism and Communist principles, ideas and tactics." He described himself as "deeply democratic and anti-Communist."

Ferrer said "Anything and everything that I have relating to the vital subject of your inquiry is available to you." He added that the fact he had been subpoenaed by the committee was a "bewildering shock" to him and "has caused considerable damage to my wife and me in our professions and . . . some personal unpleasantness."

Horse Meat Is Regulated

SPRINGFIELD, (AP) — The Illinois house today approved a bill to regulate the sale and distribution of horse meat.

The measure would require that persons engaged in such business obtain a license from the State Agriculture department.

Take Positive Stand . . .

CHICAGO—(AP)—America should fight for correction of conditions that breed Communism, says Justice William O. Douglas.

"The fact is," the supreme court justice said, "that America has been so engrossed in providing a defense against Communism that we have lost the initiative. Our great weakness has been our negative attitude.

* * * *

"Yet no matter how feverish our efforts, the Red tide of Communism seems to spread abroad. So we rush to the support of every group which opposes Soviet Communism. That puts us in partnership with the corrupt and reactionary groups whose policies breed the discontent on which Soviet Communism feeds and prospers."

Douglas' views were published in the Rotarian, monthly magazine of Rotary International.

U. S. Battleship, Destroyer Hit; 2 Dead, 12 Wounded

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The battleship New Jersey and the destroyer Brinkley Bass have been hit by Communist shore fire off Korea with the loss of two dead and 12 wounded.

The navy, in reporting this today, said the New Jersey was hit yesterday, (Korean time) by a shell which landed on its No. 1 16 inch gun turret.

The Brinkley Bass was hit on Sunday (Korean time).

Both ships were at anchor while bombarding the Communist-held port of Wonsan on the east coast of Korea when the enemy batteries opened up.

A navy spokesman said the vessels quickly slipped their anchors and steamed out of range.

Iran's Moslems, Reds Call Mass Rallies to Oppose U. S., Britain

TEHRAN, IRAN—(AP)—Iran's Moslem religious leaders and her Communist underground—both sworn to drive foreign oil interests out of their land—called mass rallies today to fan growing resentment against Britain and the United States.

The Moslems, who threaten Holy war if the British resist nationalization of their giant Anglo-Iranian oil company, called a demonstration to "express hatred against interferences which violate our independence." The rally also is aimed against America taking any hand.

The underground Tudeh (Communist) party, which opposes Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's electoral reforms and accuses him of dallying on oil nationalization, has summoned a meeting of trade unionists. This also is expected to develop into a blast against Britain and the U. S.

Anti-British and anti-American sentiment grew in both press and parliament following last night's diplomatic protest in which Iran's nationalistic government accused the U. S. of interference in its internal affairs by siding with the British in the critical oil dispute.

Iran's Foreign Minister Bagher Kazemi handed to U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady a formal protest against the state department's declaration of last Friday, which the Iranians view as a support of the British.

Downstate Area Threatened by Destructive Greenbug

Cows Like to Keep Cool, Too...

URBANA—Building a homemade shade for dairy cows on pasture can be one of the easiest, most profitable investments you can make.

Karl Gardner, University of Illinois dairyman, says a cow's milk production drops off, sometimes pretty sharply, when she gets too hot. You see, cows do not sweat, so they must cool off in the shade. Heat is extra hard on cows on quiet days without any breeze. University cows have had temperatures 4-8 degrees above normal on such days.

• • •

Gardner says trees in the pasture or shade by the side of the barn is fine. But if you don's have even this, you're money ahead to provide artificial shade.

Probably the best type of atificial shade is four poles with a flat frame roof or scrap of lumber covered with some old straw or hay weighted down so that it won't blow away. Straw or hay is better than any metal for roofing, because air can move through the straw or hay.

• • •

The roof should be about eight feet off the ground, and the shelter should be at least 10 or 12 feet long on each side. This area can accommodate about six cows at once.

If there's no other way to provide shade, you can put your cows in the barn during the hot mid-day period.

Remember, too, that plenty of water helps to keep cows cool.

Plant Lice Are Reported in Winter Wheat

Present in Large Numbers; Chemical Most Effective

CHAMPAIGN, (AP) — Greenbugs, small plant lice which have damaged winter wheat considerably in the southwest, appeared in destructive numbers in Illinois wheat fields during the weekend.

This warning came from the Dr. George C. Decker, entomologist of the Illinois Natural History Survey.

Decker said farmers and farm advisers from McLean and adjoin counties in Central Illinois had been telephoning the survey. The bugs have appeared in destructive numbers in many fields of winter wheat and early planted oats.

Always Present

This insect normally is present in small numbers in Illinois. This is the first time in 25 years the greenbug has appeared in large numbers in the state, Decker said.

Decker said it had not been determined whether the Illinois infestation is caused by a buildup of the native population, or whether the bugs in their winged stage have been blown into the state from the southwest.

Decker said early detection and prompt action is essential to prevent destruction from the pests. It is a small, green plant louse which appears on the leaves of the plant and eats it, turning the plant yellow. They can reproduce at an almost unbelievable rate, Decker said.

Chemical Effective

Decker said a chemical known as Parathion ies believed to be the most effective and economical insecticide yet developed and tested for greenbug control. It should be sprayed on the plant at the rate of a quarter pound to the acre, where the greenbugs appear.

Decker cautioned farmers who use Parathion that it is dangerous and that illnesses and some fatalities have been caused from failure to observe precautions which are listed on the container.

Decker said county farm advisers can tell farmers where they may purchase the chemical.

High Producers Favorite Target Of Milk Fever

URBANA—You know how a burglar passes up tin-plate to get sterling silver. Well, milk fever is the same way. This disease shuns common dairy cows and picks only on profitable high producers.

Dr. Ray D. Hatch, University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine, says there is almost never any "halfway" in milk fever. Unless it is treated promptly, it usually kills affected cows within 48 hours after it strikes.

Definite Pattern

Milk fever usually follows a fairly definite pattern. It seldom appears in first-calf heifers; it usually shows up within a day or two and nearly always within a week after calving; and a cow that has it once often repeats each time she calves.

A cow with milk fever staggers and cannot stand steady. Then she goes down and turns her head to one side in the position characterstics of milk fever. Often an untreated cow turns her head so far that gas cannot escape from the rumen, and she dies of bloat.

Treatment Effective

Fortunately, says Dr. Hatch, prompt treatment is highly effective. Calcium gluconate or some other calcium salt is added to the blood stream to replace the calcium drained from the blood by the sudden starting of milk production. Cows sometimes respond so quickly that they will get up on their feet before treatment is finished.

After the cow is treated, don't milk her out completely for a few days. Milk her just enough to relieve the pressure. She's not so likely to deplete her supply of calcium in the blood if her production of milk is slowed down.

Feed Nursing Sow Enough to Keep Up Weight

URBANA — You'll be money ahead in the long run if you feed a sow with nursing pigs enough feed to provide plenty of milk for her pigs and still keep up her own body weight.

Harry Russell, University of Illinois livestock specialist, says sows on test at the university swine farm maintained their weight from the time their pigs were 18 days old until they were eight weeks of age. Average daily ration per sow was 9½ pounds of shelled corn and slightly more than 1¼ pounds of sow supplement.

In addition each pig ate a little over two pounds of hulled oats a day from the creep feeder and just a taste of pig supplement. Each sow and litter averaged 13 pounds of feed daily.

The total feed per 100 pounds of gain a sow and litter was 388 pounds of grain and supplement. The sow was charged with 325 pounds and the pigs with 63 pounds. This is low-cost pork production, and in addition the sows were kept in good condition for market or for breeding.

Pre-Emergence Weed Spray Can Save on Corn Cultivation

URBANA—You can omit one to three cultivations in your cornfields if you apply a 2, 4-D pre-emergence spray and it works well.

But Fred Slife, weed control specialist in the University of Illinois, recommends using pre-emergence sprays only when you know you have a bad annual weed or grass problem. They may be a good investment on cornland in creek or river bottoms, but they are definitely not recommended on light or sandy soils.

Pre-emergence sprays are applied after the corn is planted but before the first weeds have come up. The best time for spraying is usually from five days after corn is planted until it is three inches high.

The advantages of the 2, 4-D pre-emergence spray is that it kills annual weeds very quickly while they're germinating. It will control velvet weed, cocklebur, foxtail and crabgrass, as well as others.

On the other hand, pre-emergence sprays are fairly expensive—about $3 an acre. And thy're no good against annual weeds in a dry season. If 2, 4-D is to kill annual weeds, they must sprout promptly, and that means there must be enough moisture in the top layer of soil. Another drawback is that 2, 4-D has little effect on Canada thistle, bindweed, quack grass and other perennial weeds.

Recommended rate of spraying for corn up to 3-4 inches tall is one to one and one-half pounds of 2, 4-D acid an acre. Corn is much more easily injured when it is four to 30 inches tall, so when it reaches that size use only ¼ pound of 2, 4-D ester or ½ pound of the amine form to the acre.

Caponized Cockerels May Bring Better Price to Chicken Raiser

By FRANK PRIEBE

For the last few years the price you've got for 3-pound spring chickens has been disappointing.

"I wouldn't sell mine at that price," an Iowa farmer told me the other day. "I had them caponized. And I figure I made a dollar apiece on them. That's more than most growers made on their turkeys. I'm caponizing them again this year."

I discovered a lot of neighbors are going to do the same thing. There will be thousands of capons in that area. And that means they can be sold to advantage.

OPA Ruined Trade

A good many years ago there was a poultry plant in Iowa that shipped capons by the carload. Capons were a specialty with the farmers in that area—and a very profitable one. The OPA killed the capon business during the last war. When you couldn't sell capons for any more than chickens, people figured—sensibly enough—that there was no point in caponizing. So they quit raising them.

The last couple of years there has been a lot of interest in hormonized chickens—which were sometimes called "chemical capons" and sometimes "caponettes."

Put on Pasture

"But that's not what I'm talking about," the farmer insisted. "I'm talking about caponizing with a knife. I'll put the birds out on range, just like I do my pullets. Good green pasture will help to keep the feed costs down. I made money on them last year. And I can't see any reason why I shouldn't do as well this year."

I think he's got something there.

If you got straight run chicks this spring, it won't be long until you'll have to decide what to do with the cockerels. Why don't you talk to some neighbor who caponized his cockerels last year? Ask him what he got for them. And go into the produce plant where you sell your poultry. Ask them what they think of the capon deal this year.

I'm inclined to think that caponizing may be the best thing to do with our cockerels here in the Middle West. If I were you, I'd consider it seriously.

GOP Against Half-Cent Tax For Chicago

SPRINGFIELD, (AP) — Cook county Republican leaders and legislators came out today against a half cent city sales tax sought by Mayor Martin H. Kennelly of Chicago.

The tax bill is set for another hearing tomorrow before the Illinois senate municipalities committee, which has been cool toward the proposal all along.

The Democratic mayor appeared in support of the bill last week, saying it would produce $19,000,000 a year and ease Chicago's financial troubles.

John Leonard East, Cook county GOP chairman, announced after a meeting last night that "ample assistance can be given to Chicago without the imposition of a sales tax or an increase in the property tax."

The meeting was attended by Cook county Republican officers, aldermen and legislators.

East told reporters that Republican leaders have "no idea what amount of money is absolutely essential for the continued maintenance of Chicago."

"Until it can be ascertained what the needs are, it is difficult to find the proper financial solution," he added.

He said Cook county Republicans are "ready and willing to cooperate in a program" for Chicago.

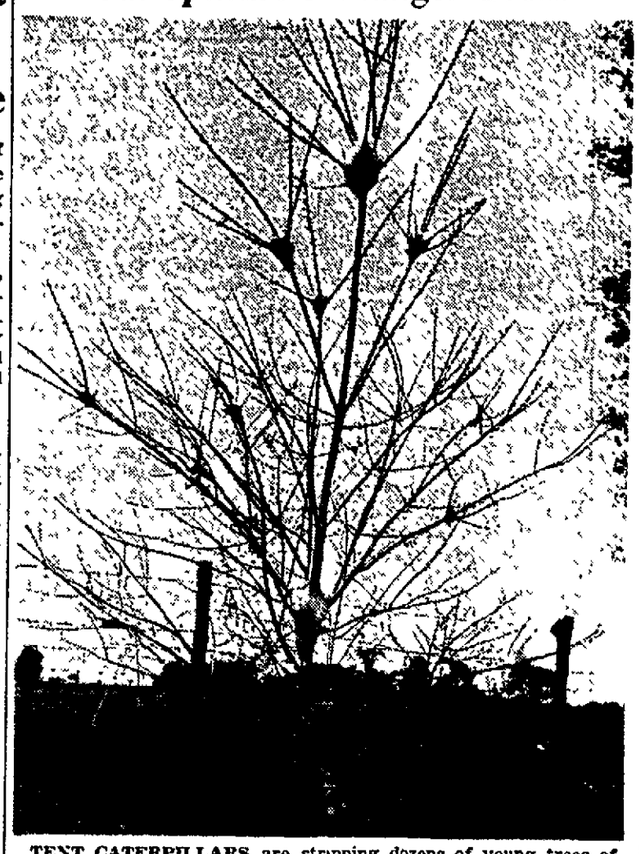
Caterpillars Endanger Trees



TENT CATERPILLARS are stripping dozens of young trees of their foliage along the C & NW track between Ashton and Franklin Grove. The small, striped worm occupies each tree by the hundreds in compact masses, while large tentlike webs occur at intervals all over each tree. Each colony stays with its tree until leaves are completely eaten away.

Cab Dives 300 Feet, Driver Slightly Hurt

QUEBEC, (AP) — A taxicab plunged 300 feet from the heights of the Plains of Abraham to a street below yesterday but its only occupant, driver Andre Delisle, escaped with superficial head injuries.

The car overturned several times in the fall down the sharp incline. The 28-year-old Delisle was found unconscious in the back seat.

Progress Hits Daisy Mountain

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., (AP) —TVA power coupled with some native East Tennessee ingenuity has resulted in a new device in this region of monshine whisky: An electric still.

Hamilton County Sheriff Rex Richey yesterday confiscated an elaborate electrically heated "pot" atop remote Daisy mountain.

Six heating units, which eliminated the giveaway smoke, were built inside the 50-gallon pot, the officer said.

Richey said Harold Crowe, 43-year-old former state forestry service worker, was arrested and charged with possessing untaxed whisky.

The sheriff quoted Crowe as saying he got his idea for the operation from hearing advertisements booming the area's "cheap electricity."

The Merino sheep was considered so valuable in Spain at one time that anyone attempting to export one was put to death.

Watch Sweet Clover Fields Now For Weevil Damage Evidence

URBANA—Right now is the critical time for damage of sweet clover fields by the sweet clover weevil. Watch your fields carefully and, if you find enough damage, be ready to spray with DDT immediately.

This urgent reminder came today from J. H. Bigger and H. B. Petty, insect specialists in the Illinois Natural History Survey, and J. C. Hackleman, agronomist in the Illinois college of agriculture.

Petty says the worst damage usually occurs when old sweet clover stands are plowed down. Most farmers have plowed in the past two weeks or so. When old stands are gone, the weevils move to young, new stands to feed. Notching on the edge of the leaves is a sign that weevils are feeding. With this warning, you should be ready to spray when about half the leaf surface has been destroyed.

DDT at 1½ pounuds an acre has done a fine job of stopping sweet clover weevils. You could also use one pound of chlordane or 1½-2 pounds of toxaphene. Be sure to put the spray on the clover plants.

Bigger emphasizes that timing the spray is extremely important. You'll waste both time and chemical by spraying before about half the leaf surface has been eaten. But if you wait much beyond that point, you'll probably lose your whole stand.

Future of Iran's Oil Poses Critical Problem for Allies

While American lawmakers focus on the future of war-torn Korea, a struggle of potentially much greater strategic importance is taking place in Iran.

No thoughtful western observers were happy when Premier Razmara of Iran was assassinated a few months ago. They foresaw a period of economic and political strife —Communist-inspired—which could disrupt Iran's heavy oil shipments to Britain and other western countries.

Their worst fears are being realized. Razmara's death has been followed by internal turbulence that bodes ill for the West.

The properties of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co., in which Britain was majority stockholder, have been nationalized. Strikes in the field and other difficulties have slowed the oil flow to a trickle. Premier Mossadegh, successor to Rasmara, has revealed the insecurity of his government by publicly expressing fears for his life.

How serious all this is for the West can be seen by resort to a few elemental statistics. Iran's annual oil output of more than 30 million tons represents more than a third of the Middle East's total production. Anglo-Iranian's Abadan refinery, largest in the world, itself turns out 25 million tons of refined oil.

These properties supply 25 per cent of Britain's total petroleum products, and they also fuel a substantial part of the industrial and military machine in other western nations.

In a recent dispatch from Paris, Leon Denne, NEA correspondent in Europe, quoted a former Soviet oil official as saying General Eisenhower's entire North Atlantic defense program may be jeopardized by a drastic oil drought if the flow from Iran and perhaps other Middle East sources is cut off. Together these sources account for 90 per cent of the oil consumed in NATO countries.

To be sure, British oil men do not fear that Iranian oil will be deliberately barred from Britain, or sold in great quantity to Russia. The Iranian government has assured the British it wants to keep on selling to them and other regular western customers. But what worries the British is how much oil there'll be to sell.

The Iranians now rely on 2700 skilled European workers, but they want to replace them with natives. A British oil economist compares this outlook to the situation in Mexico after that country expropriated foreign oil holdings in 1938. He says: "It took Mexico nine years to get back to the level output at the time the properties were seized."

So long as Iran insists on ousting foreign oil workers and managing production entirely on its own, therefore, prospects are dark. Unless some agreement can be worked out to allow seasoned experts to assist the Iranians, the Russians will gain a signal strategic victory.

The United States is the only other important source from which NATO countries could get oil to make up any Middle East deficiency. And it's an unsettled question how much of that added burden we could bear. We are not now an oil-exporting country.

No communique from the Korean front is more vital to the West's future than the dispatch from Tehran which will tell what finally is to happen to Iranian oil.

Mom's Got Week Coming! Well, How Does She Get It

A homemaking institute has figured out that the average housewife could have at least a week more vacation a year if she would grocery-shop one or twice a week instead of every day.

Sounds good on paper, but any housewife can point out the flaw in that kind of reasoning.

How is she going to store up those extra minutes saved each day and turn them into a week's vacation?

Suppose she goes to the trouble of setting up a fancy bookkeeping system, putting down every day just how many minutes she has saved by not marketing and can prove at the end of the year that the time adds up to one week—then what?

The time is gone, isn't it? And probably frittered away on something just as useless as every-day marketing.

TELL IT TO POP

Let her try to tell Papa she has a week's vacation coming to her and see how far she gets. Because what can Papa do about her accumulated time that is supposed to add up to a vacation?

He can't very well say, "Okay, I'll take a week off from the office and you go take that week's vacation you've saved up for yourself."

That's why the efficiency experts seldom get housewives very excited when they point out that they can save so much time by doing a particular job a certain way. The housewife knows very well that if she saves ten minutes a day on the job of bed-making, say, that she'll just turn around and decide the silver needs polishing.

There's not too much percentage in cutting minutes off of housekeeping jobs. Because housekeeping is a job, it's hard to quit and run out on. You just never say, "Now all my work is cleaned up for the day."

You can do that with a desk job. But homemaking is something else again.

IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA)—Eve Arden sighed from the top of her sleek hair-do down to the lacquer on her toes over the nation's gloomy, down-at-the-mouth movie fans.

It was a long sigh, because Eve's no pee-wee and it's quite a distance down her shapely frame.

Even when she wears flat-heeled shoes.

Besides, Eve puts a lot into a sigh and the situation's downright critical.

The fans are wilting from sheer boredom, Eve passed the word along.

"We've taken their pleasures away," Eve sniffed. "Things are so dull in Hollywood. Nobody lives in palaces anymore. Nobody takes morphine. Nobody does anything. It's awful for the fans."

Maybe it would help if Ava Gardner jumped into a swimming pool at the stroke of midnight fully clothed—Eve wouldn't know—but something's got to be done to keep the housewife movie-goer from looking like Ned Sparks.

Eve's doing her bit.

It's a drop in the keep-them-happy bucket and a crater in her bankroll. She's buying fancy duds.

"I guess I owe it to people," she shrugged.

WHISPERS

Eve's bill for hats, gowns, nylons and mink has skyrocketed since she overheard two girls talking about her in the lobby of a Broadway theater a couple of months ago.

"Hey, lookee," one of the girls said, "there's Eve Arden wearing the same dress she wore to an opening three weeks ago. This is a movie star? Phooey!"

Eve wailed that she's been haunted by the girls' doleful faces ever since.

That's why she argued with the network press agent who asked her to write an article on how the average woman could look sharp as a tack in clothes that cost peanuts.

"But you're radio's 'Our Miss Brooks,'" countered the radio press agent. "They expect it of you."

Eve put the words together and showed the piece to her business manager. She chuckled:

"He read it and gave out a healthy snort. Arden telling women how to save money on clothes."

Eve isn't passing any medals around to movie fan magazine editors for success in cheering up their readers, either.

"People," she shivered, "are going to get sick. How much can be written about Elizabeth Taylor? Why do they write about the same people all the time? There are other people in Hollywood. And I'd be so grateful to see some new faces on the covers. They ran Ava Gardner into the ground for a while."

Movies may be better than ever, but Eve can't say the same for movie casting.

The name combinations on the marquees, she let it drop aren't making jumpers-for-joy out of people who want to watch Gary Cooper breathe hotly down the neck of a doll with a little maturity.

CROSS-CASTING

"There no more titillation in casting interesting people opposite each other. It's Fred Astaire and Jane Powell. Fred Astaire and Vera-Ellen. No one over the age of 15 is going to swallow this kind of thing. It's just not believable.

"There should be a free exchange of stars and supporting players to make interesting screen combinations. But studio contract deals spoil it."

I put Eve on another track:

What about the movie queens who stand around looking nervous while she reels off the comedy lines that give movie audiences a big laugh?

Had any of them drawn a sharp fingernail across a mahogany table top while looking at Eve's scalp?

Eve didn't think so.

"Of course," she speculated, "everybody's envious of a good comedy line. Hmmmmmmm. I wonder."

She thought it over again.

"No, most of them are glad to have me around. Take Doris Day. She gets a boot out of what I do. Doris gives me a look that says, "This script is a piece of limburger, so let's carry it on."

Size of Insulin Dose Used to Cure Diabetes Is Gauged by Amount of Sugar in the Blood

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

An intelligent correspondent asks a question on diabetes, not because she wishes to treat herself, but merely because she wants to know.

Q—If one is taking insulin for diabetes, does one take more when the blood sugar goes up and less when it goes down or the other way around? When one goes off insulin does one gradually take less or stop all at once?—Mrs. S.C.

A—Insulin helps to burn the sugar in the blood. Consequently if more sugar appears in the blood there is need for more insulin, not less. If it becomes possible to go off insulin, the dose is gradually decreased while the amount of sugar in the blood and urine is watched to make sure that insulin can be dispensed with.

Q—Is there any reason why a person should suddenly lose the ability to write? About a week ago when I sat down to write out a grocery slip all I managed was scribbles. It is somewhat better now. There seemed to be nothing wrong with my hand but I couldn't form the "thought."—Mrs. W.G.

A—The condition is almost certainly graphomotor aphasia, which is one of several kinds of loss of power to express or comprehend speech or language. It results from disease or injury to some portion of the brain and anything of this kind calls for a careful and thorough study of the nervous system.

• • •

Q—There is one subject I have never seen you discuss and that is enlarged heart. Please say something about the cause, treatment and so forth.—Reader.

A—Enlarged heart is not a disease of itself. The heart can be larger than normal from any one of a great variety of causes: overexertion, rheumatic fever, high blood pressure—just to mention a few. Consequently the treatment depends partly on the cause, partly on the degree of enlargement and on other factors such as age and how long the heart has been enlarged.

Q—Is colored margarine just as beneficial to children as butter?
Reader

A—The principal nutritional difference between butter and margarine has been the greater amount of vitamin A in the former. However, margarine is now almost invariably fortified with vitamin A so that there is little if any difference in the value of these important foods. The coloring of margarine may be combined with vitamin A but is usually put in for sake of appearance rather than nutritive value.

• • •

Q—I read in the paper about some pills made from buckwheat which you said were good for high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries. How can I get them?
J. A. B.

A—I never said any such thing. You must have read this somewhere else. It disturbs me greatly when some correspondent mixes things up and thinks I recommend something which I would not think of doing.

• • •

Q—Can a person contract tuberculosis from letters and books sent by a tuberculosis patient through the mail?
A. T. S.

A—The tubercle bacillus dies at different rates of speed depending on the air and sunlight, the dryness and so forth. It is theoretically possible for a few germs to survive for a time on letters or books, but from the practical angle contracting tuberculosis in this manner is so unlikely that it can be ignored.

Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However, once a week, in this "Q & A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

Jacoby on Bridge

Beware—Hunches Are Misleading

By OSWALD JACOBY

Probably each of us knows some bridge player who plays by hunch and most of us wish we didn't. A hunch is that strange instinct that tells a bridge player he's right—whether he is or not.

When today's hand was actually played, South had a hunch that the king of trumps would drop. He took the opening lead in dummy with the ace of clubs, finessed the queen of spades, and then confidently banged down the ace of spades.

This brilliant maneuver did declarer no good at all. He had to lose a trump, a diamond, and two clubs.

Do I hear somebody say that the contract must be lost anyway? Look again, for South can make four spades if he plays the hand properly.

Correct play is to win the first trick with the ace of clubs and finesse the queen of spades to begin with. When the finesse holds, South should abandon trumps. The chance that the king will drop is far too small.

South leads a heart to dummy's ace and ruffs a heart with the eight of spades. He leads a diamond to the king and ruffs another heart with the nine of spades. He then gets to dummy wtih the ace of diamonds and ruffs still another heart with the ten of spades.

This leaves South with just the ace-jack of spades and three losing cards in the minor suits. He leads a club or a diamond to let the enemy take their three tricks. When they have done so somebody else will be in the lead, and South must surely make both his ace and his jack of trumps.

Q—Is there any such place as Shangri-La?

A—Actually, the place called Shangri-La is a fictional Utopia in the novel "Lost Horizon." It has no particular significane. According to the author, "La" is a genuine Tibetan word meaning "mountain pass" and the word "Shangri" he invented as seeming to have a Tibetan sound.

Pegler Foresees Another "Dust Bowl" in Wake of Arizona Agricultural Boom

(Copyright, 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

TUCSON, Arizona, May 21—A dramatic transformation is in progress in the Arizona desert which certainly portends trouble possibly a dust bowl and another crop of ghost settlements. The limitation of the cotton acreage has been abolished and in Pima county, alone, whose seat is Tucson, the increase this year will be about 25,000 acres. The normal acreage was about 10,000. In Santa Cruz county, which runs to the Mexican border, about 11,000 acres are being planted or cleared for planting, as against a total cotton acreage of about 4,000 in 1950.

Westbrook Pegler

Thornton Jones, the water commissioner, reported that in Maricopa, whose seat is Phoenix, the state capital, there was very little surface flow left. Ernest Douglas, the editor of the Arizona Farmer, who has been close to the problems of water supply and irrigation, wrote after that warning "an incredible story of neglect and indifference was unfolded. This county's underground water has been treated as an inexhaustible resource, belonging to anybody who could get hold of a piece of land and punch down a well. The statute allocating surface water has been nullified by pumping, which is regulated by no statute whatever. With disaster staring them in the face, sober citizens have talked over the tragic situation and wondered whether it would do any good to have Maricopa county declared a "critical area.'"

In a "critical area," the drilling of further wells and the irrigation of new acreage may be forbidden but only after long litigation if the petitiioner for permission is willing to go to the trouble and expense. In the very suburbs of Tucson, which, until five years ago, was desert and open range, homeless horses of good quality now wander in bunches up to 20, grazing the cactus and brush and damaging residential gardens and commercial citrus groves because the conversion of hayfields to cotton has forced up the cost of feed so high that their owners just turned them loose.

Gerald Swinehart, of New York, who has a small winter vacation home in Frontier Village and has been keeping two horses of his own, offered them for sale. They cost him $200 and $75, respectively, two years ago. The owner of the stable replied that he had on hand a fine big gelding which he was authorized to give away to anyone who would care for the steed.

William Taylor, a young war veteran from Detroit, who still clanks like a Monon engine what with the loose shrapnel in his legs has suffered severe damage by stray horses which jump his cattle-guards at Desert Treasures, a big citrus ranch, to drink from the tree holes in his groves. They also tramp down the little dikes around the trees and rip the branches. Another bunch, a few miles to the north along the Oracle road, go marauding at night. They raise hell trying to stampede tame horses in corrals. This apparently is sheer mischief.

The problem of the horses is only indicative, however. It means that the demand for Arizona's long staple cotton, a commodity little known to any but persons with a special interest in cotton planting and cotton products, has curtailed hay and pasturage to this extent.

Desmond Williams, a contractor who has done much building, traveled 5,000 miles looking for a suitable patch where he could either punch down wells or tap some existing source. He was always a jump behind the other fellow and gave it up. There was, he said, a wonderful chance to make a quick cleanup in the commodity now known as white gold, in a boom which might blow up by 1952, although, if the requirements of war industry continue steady, the demand for Arizona cotton probably will continue also.

There is no possible doubt that all this new irrigation will seriously impair the underground water supply. Some speculators, including carpetbaggers from other states, will buy and clear their land and fetch their water and still make a big profit on this year's crop alone. The yield is two bales to the acre in ordinary circumstances, but in the Casa Grande and Eloy areas in Pinal county some land gives three bales.

However, this is all an area of acute emergency in the water supply. Eloy is an unsightly string town along the main road to California. Many of the population are Oakies, Arkies, and other American migrants. The social conditions are not fastidious. The planters and the state government recently agreed on camp sanitation for these nomadic cotton choppers and pickers who, in normal times, work also on carrots and other ground crops. The ranchers held that the plumbing which the health department demanded as a minimum requirement would be ripped out and sold for junk, wherein they spoke from experience with a quaint tribe who are not all housebroken. Some ranchers prefer Mexicans as being more civilized and reliable. The new code forbids dirt floors and canvas housing and provides for showers and some cooking equipment.

The government raised the crop objective for cotton from ten million bales in 1950 to 16 million this year.

Howard Pyle, the young Republican governor, is alarmed over the ground-water danger and will put it on the order of business for a special session of the legislature. But it will be hard, if at all possible, to restrain the exploiters, who can say that, after all, war production requires all the cotton they can raise. There are taxes in many states on minerals taken from the ground which, like this water, cannot be replaced in measurable time. But no such water tax has been seriously proposed.

Plane Lands at Roadside Pump, Fills Up Tank

BRANTFORD, Ont., (AP) — George Gammack gulped and looked again—it was an airplane waiting for gas outside his station on busy No. 2 highway.

Dazed, Gammack went out.

"Fill 'er up," said the pilot, "I haven't got enough to get home."

Gammack filled the tank and the pilot, apparently "from the United States," took off down the highway. Gammack didn't get his name, but he has a picture of the small plane at the pumps to prove his story.

Your Pocketbook May Benefit From Supreme Court Decision Nullifying Fair Trade Laws

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Your pocketbook—the price you pay for things you buy—may benefit from a supreme court decision yesterday.

It means a lot of shopkeepers can now charge you less than they've been charging. They'll be free to cut prices.

This court decision involves the fair trade laws of the 45 states which have them. Three states—Vermont, Missouri, Texas—and the District of Columbia don't have them.

This is what those fair trade laws meant, among other things:

1. The manufacturer of a brand-name product could go into a state and make an agreement with one or more retailers, handling his producet, not to sell it below a certain minimum price. This was price fixing.

2. Once a manufacturer made such an agreement—if only with one retailer in that state—no other retailer there could sell below the price agreed upon by the manufacturer and that one dealer.

This meant that any dealer—or many dealers—who not only didn't sign the agreement but didn't want it at all, couldn't cut the price of that product.

That was the way it was until yesterday, as the state laws were interpreted. But the supreme court changed that in part and in this way:

May Make Agreements

The court said that in states which have fair trade laws a manufacturer and a retailer can still make agreements not to sell below a certain price.

But, the court said, this applies in the future only to those making the agreement and, in the future, any retailer not a party to the agreement can cut the price as much as he wishes.

Here's a homely example of how that worked and can work now:

1. The manufacturer of a fishing reel wanted it to sell for $15 if you bought it from a tackle shop.

If he sold it to a tackle dealer in the District of Columbia, which has no fair trade law, that dealer could re-sell it to you for any price he wished below $15. He suited himself on that. That still stands. The supreme court decision doesn't change that.

2. But say the same manufacturer went into a state with a fair trade law. He made a deal with a tackle shop not to re-sell that reel for less than $15.

Even though the manufacturer made that agreement with only one tackle shop, all the other dealers who handled that same reel had to sell it for no less than $15, even though they took no part in the agreement.

Now, under the court decision, the manufacturer still can make an agreement in a fair trade state with as many dealers who are willing to go along with him that the reel shall not be sold for less than $15.

Can Sell for Less

But, from now on, any dealer handling that reel—if he didn't take part in the agreement—can sell the reel for any price he wishes below $15.

Of course, a question arises here: What happens now? Won't firms refuse to sell to retailers who decline to take part in a price-fixing agreement?

In some cases, probably. Maybe not. One lawyer here, asked about it, said: "That won't work very well. Retailers can get their goods from a lot of sources, such as wholesalers, if a manufacturer doesn't want to deal with them."

'Flying Grapes' Only Balloons, Says Professor

CHICAGO, (AP)—Anything in the midwest skies which looks like a bunch of grapes today probably will be Dr. Marcel Schein's balloons.

The University of Chicago announced that 25 balloons carrying 80 pounds of equipment for recording cosmic ray activity will be released from the campus at about 8:30 a. m.

After rising some 80,000 to 90,000 feet, the big cluster will descend to earth slowly—possibly 300 to 500 miles away from Chicago.

Dr. Schein, of the university's institute for nuclear studies, has sent aloft a series of balloons carried instruments in recent years.

Whoever finds the recording equipment and notifies the university will be rewarded for his trouble, a spokesman said.

Unkindest Cut

The bank is in Scotland.

Reagan Fans Get Telegram

Darlene Shippert, chairman of the Dixon vicinity chapter of the Ronald Reagan Fan club received a telegram from "Dutch" sending personal greetings to the club members and this was read to the group when they met recently at the Christian church parlors. The meeting was planned with a May Day theme. A May basket in pink, yellow and green was filled with double daffodils, cinnamon sprays and pink flowering almond and another basket contained wild violets. There were 21 members present.

After an acquaintance game everyone was given a small colored balloon with a song or movie title inside. Each person then acted in pantomime the title in his or her balloon while the group attempted to guess the identities. In honor of Mother's Day the first act was the favorite song of Nelle Reagan, Ronald's mother, "Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown." During the business meeting membership renewals were explained according to a letter from Zelda Multz.

During the program those who attended the Jan. 1 meeting at the Lyle Shippert home had a chance to see themselves in a colored movie. Also shown were movies taken of Ronald Reagan at the Reagan-Wyman home; views of the homes of other Hollywood celebrities and other California landscape scenes. The Aqua Capers at Dixon's Swimming pool and other Injun Summer events of the Reagan celebration were shown. These films were made possible through Gene Cebre, Winston McReynolds, Don Stauffer and Almond Morrison.

The refreshment committee, Evelyn Carpenter, Mrs. Al Morrison and Ms. Lyle Shippert in place of Mrs. Don Stauffer who couldn't be present, carried out the May Day theme.

Rural Schools Need New Pattern Says NEA Expert

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The National Education Association called today for a "new pattern" for rural schools.

The 1951 yearbook of the association's rural education department, published today, declared the country school is a carbon copy of the urban school and so fails to meet the particular needs of rural children.

The yearbook was written by the late Fannie W. Dunn, long-time professor of rural education at teachers college, Columbia university.

* * * *

"Our rural education program today does not find its basis in the rural environment," Dr. Dunn said.

"City schools have nine-month terms, beginning early in September and closing in late June, with long vacations in midwinter.

"So we shut country school children up in school buildings in June and September when the outdoors is full of all sorts of educative experiences, and give them a vacation in late December, which isn't usually as severe as February, and not distinctively abundant in educative outdoor opportunities."

* * * *

Dr. Dunn said educational potentialities of the rural community have been overlooked or only slightly developing in patterning the rural school program after programs emphasizing an "industrial civilization."

Bid to Quash Manslaughter Charges Here

Public Defender Asks Court to Free Lambersky

Public Defender Walter W. Stevens, Pawpaw, cites five separate amendments or sections of the U. S. and Illinois constitutions in an amended motion to quash the manslaughter indictment against Alex Lambersky, Dixon State hospital patient, in a motion filed with Circuit Clerk John O. Shaulis Monday afternoon.

Judge George C. Dixon has set Friday as the time for a hearing on the motion made by the public defender.

Stevens charges that no competent evidence was presented to the grand jury which indicted Lambersky for the strangulation slaying of Kenneth LaRoy, 9, at the hospital. Stevens alleges also Lambersky was deprived of his legal and constitutional rights.

Deprived of Rights

He was deprived of his rights when compelled to give evidence against himself before the grand jury, Stevens charges. The first citation is from section one of the 14th amendment to the federal constitution which provides "nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of the law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction of the equal protection of the laws."

Stevens used the fifth amendment of the U. S. constitution in his charge that Lambersky should not have been forced to give evidence against himself.

Cites State Statutes

Also cited is section two, article two of the state constitution providing that no one will be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

He cites article eight, section two of the state constitution which provides no person will be held unless under indictment by a grand jury. Stevens also repeats the "compelled to give evidence against himself" charge by citing article two section 10 of the state constitution.

A motion for a competency hearing for Lambersky which was made by Assistant State's Attorney George Nichols cannot be taken into consideration until the court passes on Stevens' charges that the indictment was unconstitutional. Stevens made his first motion to quash the indictment at the same time Nichols filed his motion but Stevens later asked additional time to file the amended motion to quash.

Wiley Denies GOP Plans to 'Get' Acheson

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Senator Wiley (R-Wis) denounced as a "lie" today reports that he and other Republicans are out to "get" Secretary of State Acheson in the MacArthur inquiry.

Wiley's outburst came when the senate armed services and foreign relations committees met to continue hearings on the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Wiley told his colleagues there had been "inspired newspaper reports" that he and other Republicans were conniving on "a strategy of getting some administration witness."

Although Wiley did not name Acheson, the reports had been connected with Republican attacks on the secretary of state.

The brochure possibly will be in the form of a prospectus giving pertinent facts about Dixon to industries wich might want to set up factories here. Committee members are Carl Hasselburg, Lyle Prescott and L. J. Welch.

A letter was sent to the Junior chamber of commerce commending them for joining the national organization and for gaining a first place rating in the Jaycee safety contest.

Outbreak at St. Charles School Quelled, 24 Inmates Are Jailed

ST. CHARLES, (AP)—Twenty-four inmates of the Illinois State Training School for Boys were locked in jail last night after an outbreak which police halted by tear gas.

The disturbance lasted about an hour in one of the cottages at the school. The boys broke windows ad light bulbs and smashed furniture. No one was injured. All of the youths were committed to the schcool for delinquency.

Five state policemen and three deputy sheriffs went to the school in response to an alarm. They fired tear gas bombs through the broken windows before the outbreak halted.

The 24 inmates, ranging in age from 15 to 17, were removed to the Kane county jail in nearby Geneva. Casper Wolhowe, clinic director at the school, said charges against the boys will be determined after a conference with the state' attorney's office today.

Civil Defense Director Quits, People Apathetic

EAST ST. LOUIS, (AP) — Anthony Hubert has submitted his resignation as East St. Louis civil defense director with a statement that "people seem unconcerned."

"I have government power but no money,' Hubert said in his letter of resignation to Mayor Alvin G. Fields. "I have a title without influence in any city department.

"Even with the complete cooperation of the newspapers we have failed to interest the more prominent people in the city in civil defense."

Hubert, a retired mail carrier, said he would reconsider his resignation if he is assured of adequate funds and cooperation. He was named to the post by former mayor John Connors.

turn down military aid to the Chinese Nationalists.

Smith told a reporter he intends to ask Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, if diplomatic or military factors have been predominant in the adminstration's Far Eastern policies.

His objective, Smith said, is to find out whether Acheson's influence was greater than that of the Pentagon in this case. The New Jersey senator said he and other Republicans believe it was and that similar situations arose at other times.

Approved Program

Bradley told senators yesterday the joint chiefs of staff had approved in December, 1949, a recommendation for a "modest" program of military aid to Chiang Kai Shek's Nationalist troops on Formosa.

Mr. Truman upset this with a statement on Jan. 6, 1950, that the United States was not going to give any further military aid to Chiang, Bradley said.

Bradley agreed with Smith's statement there was "a conflict of view between the joint chiefs and the state department' on Formosa late in 1949.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif) and others have asserted the state department shortly before that time told its consular officers in the Far East to prepare for the fall of Formosa, saying that the island was not of major strategic value to the United States.

Island Still Safe

Formosa then was under threat of attack by the Chinese Communists. Mr. Truman sent the Seventh fleet to "neutralize" the island after the Korean war broke out.

Near the end of January this year, Bradley said, a supplemental program of army military aid to Formosa was approved by the administration. Air and navy aid programs were approved late in February, he said. The General estimated the cost of the total program at about $300,000,000.

MacArthur said last August in a message to the Veterans of Foreign Wars which Mr. Truman ordered recalled that Formosa must be kept in friendly hands at almost any cost. It was that message, Mr. Truman said last week, that started him thinking about firing MacArthur.

Secretary of Defense Marshall has told the two committees the adminstration believes Formosa must be held.

Red Losses 36-1, Army Check Shows

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Defense department says the Reds in Korea probably lost 36 times as many men—killed and wounded—as United Nations forces in the five - day Communist offensive through May 20.

U. N. losses, according to a Defense department announcement yesterday, were 1,618 dead and wounded. This excluded missing in action, for which accurate figures were not yet available.

A Defense department spokesman estimated the toll in dead and wounded of Chinese and Korea Reds at 58,000.

The spokesman said casualties among United States troops were 134 killed in action and 826 wounded. He based his figures for U. S. and U. N. losses on a check of preliminary reports from the Eighth army.

43 'Hoover' Bills Get House Okay

SPRINGFIELD, (AP) — Forty-three bills backed by the state's "Little Hoover" commission went to the Illinois senate today after receiving house approval.

Most of the measures carry out minor recommendations of the commission which studied methods of improving state government operations.

Among them were bills which would allow the governor to designate the lieutenant governor to serve in his place on the state budgetary commission and to be chairman of the legislative reference bureau.

A number of the bills abolish dormant or outmoded commissions, set staggered six year terms for state armory board members and overlapping four year terms for Illinois Industrial Commission members.

Repeals 1907 Law

Two measures would combine administration of the Illinois free employment service and the unemployment compensation division in the state labor department.

Another calls for repeal of an obsolete 1907 law which limits railroad passenger fares within Illinois to a rate of two cents a mile.

Most of the bills passed the house last night without trouble.

Okay DeKalb Bridge

The senate okayed a $65,000 appropriation for a bridge over the Kishwaukee river at DeKalb. The bill advanced to the house over objections of senate Democratic leaders who said the proposed appropriation was not listed in Gov. Stevenson's budget.

Two bills designed to promote conservation of Illinois oil resources won senate endorsement and went to the house.

The legislation would strengthen the power of the state mines and minerals department to regulate spacing of wells, allowing one well to 20 acres on limestone formations and one well to 10 acres on sandstone formations.

Senator Kent Lewis (D-Robinson), chief sponsor of the bills, said they also would accomplish a saving in steel tubing, now in short supply.

It is estimated that about 1,250,000,000 people live in Asia.

Germans to Die For War Crime

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The state department yesterday told John J. McCloy, U. S. high commissioner for Germany, he is free to proceed with the execution of five Germans convicted of war crimes.

The supreme court has refused to review the cases of the last seven remaining German war criminals under death sentences. A federal district court here yesterday issued a final order dismissing their petitions.

Iran's Rejection of British Oil Plan Poses Grave Crisis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Iran's blunt rejection of Britain's proposal to negotiate the dispute over nationalization of the huge Anglo-Iranian Oil company has increased the danger of an already grave crisis.

The seriousnes of the situation is further emphasized by the fact that the United States has felt impelled to appeal for friendly negotiation between Iran and Britain. This U. S. action brought a charge of interference from a Tehran government spokesman, National Front Deputy Makki. He added a warning:

"When the Iranian people find themselves in a situation in which the roads are closed from every side, the foundations of Communism and revolution will be prepared. It is Britain and the United States who are pushing us towards Russia."

Intervention Possible

Certainly the intervention of Bolshevist Russia is one of the grave possibilities. Prevention of this contingency is, of course, one of the main aims of both Washington and London.

Close relations with Iran are the keystone of the Western powers' strength in the Middle East. This partly because of Iran's strategic position on the Persian gulf, and even more because of her wealth in petroleum, upon which the West depends so heavily.

Thus Russian domination would completely change the mid-Eastern picture and consequently the whole world position—to the advantage of Bolshevism. For generations the Russians have been regarding Iran avidly, both because of her strategic position and because she would afford them a warm water port on the Persian gulf. They won't overlook any wide-open opportunity to take over now.

Revolution Will Help

However, Moscow isn't likely to move rashly. So far as one can see her best opportunity would arise if there were revolutionary developments in Iran. This might give her an excuse to send troops into Iran under terms of the Russo-Iranian agreement of 1921, which provides that Russia can intervene for self-protection.

This being the position it isn't strange to find Communist fifth columnist working overtime in Iran, and especially in the capital, to start a revolution.

The British note to Tehran warned that a refusal to negotiate would have serious consequences. This was emphasized by the action of the British war office in getting ready a 4,000 man parachute brigade which is used for emergencies. The War office declined to state how this brigade might be used, but the world was left to infer that it might—if necessary—be sent to Iran.

Strong Mustard

Such a gesture is pretty strong mustard, as the reaction in Tehran has clearly demonstrated. It is the sort of gesture which has to be made with extreme discretion if it is to attain the desired result and not create even greater antagonism in Iran. Proof of this is seen in Deputy Makki's threat of a holy war (Moslem) if Britain uses force to settle the issue.

Manila to Seek Smuggling End

MANILA, (AP)—President Elpidio Quirino plans an "unofficial" visit to British North Borneo today or tomorrow—possibly to seek British cooperation in halting smuggling into the southern Philippines.

Millions of pesos worth of perfumes, textiles, Americang cigarets, jewelry and other luxury items heavily taxed here are being smuggled in from North Borneo, according to reports from naval patrol and other government officials.

Only 8 Dixon Trackmen Slated for NCIC Meet

Token Squad To Compete in Sterling Friday

Younger Runners to Enter Saturday's Frosh-Soph Meet

Dixon will take only a token squad to the annual North Central conference track meet in Sterling Friday afternoon and evening.

This was made clear Monday, when Art Bowers, head track coach and athletic director, indicated that not more than eight Dixon trackmen are likely to make the trip to Sterling.

Those being groomed to salvage a few points and some face for Dixon are Bill Lafferty, Wayne Akerman, Rodney Bollman, Dick Gates, Harold Wiggington, Jim Quinn, Benny Roe and Henry Dixon.

Younger Boys Out

Two of Dixon's better young trackmen, Ken Gaul and Roger Harden, will enter the varsity half of the conference meet. They will be saved, along with other freshmen and sophomores, for the frosh-soph meet to be held on the Dixon field Saturday afternoon and evening. Gaul and Harden have helped the varsity in earlier meets this season.

Dixon's main hope for points in the varsity meet will be Bill Lafferty. However, Lafferty will be slowed by the conference ruling which permits each individual to enter only two events and the relay.

Bill to Decide

So, once again, Lafferty will have to decide whether he wishes to run in the two hurdles events or in one hurdles event and the broad jump. He jumped 20 feet, 11½ inches in the latter event in a dual meet last week against Mendota, incidentally, so he may try to repeat the conference victory he won last year.

"Lafferty will be free to make his own choice," Bowers said Monday.

Sterling, with its traditionally fine track squad, will enter the meet as favorite.

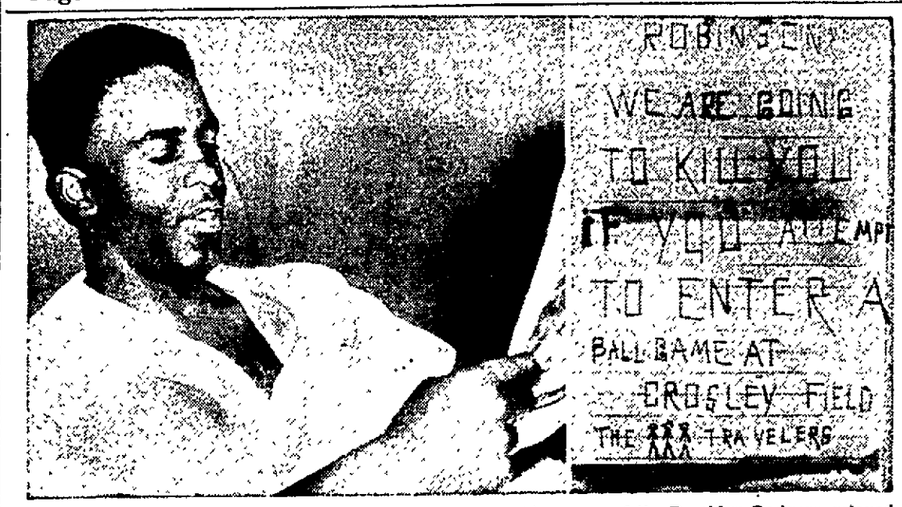
DIXON EVENING TELEGRAPH

Page Ten — Dixon, Illinois, Tuesday, May 22, 1951



ROBINSON UNWORRIED—Jackie Robinson, star second baseman of the Brooklyn Dodgers, relaxed in his hotel room in Cincinnati after three letters were received threatening to shoot him if he played in the Cincinnati-Brooklyn game. Robinson not only played, but he hit a home run. At right is the letter received by Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati baseball team.

Nippy Jones Bats Cardinals Back Into Pennant Scramble

(By The Associated Press)

The comeback of Vernal (Nippy) Jones has injected new life into the St. Louis Cardinals.

The rise in the fortunes of the Cards dates from Jones' return to the varsity on May 15.

Jones, whose career appeared ended two years ago when he was floored with a spinal injury, looked great in the spring but big Steve Bilko was awarded the first base job. Jones was shunted to the Cards' Rochester farm in the International league.

Jones Didn't Sulk

Despite the demotion Jones didn't sulk. He banged the ball hard and often for the Wings. Bilko didn't live up to expectations and Jones was called back to the flu-ridden Cards who had lost seven out of eight starts.

The Nipper brought his blazing bat with him and since his return the Cards have won five out of seven starts and moved back into contention in the ding dong pennant race. Jones' lusty swinging directly accounted for two of the Cards' triumphs.

Jones has hit safely in seven straight games. He is flailing away at a .407 clip with 11 hits in 27 swings. Jones has driven in 10 runs and also has sparkled afield.

Hit Hard Saturday

Jones went to town Saturday, driving in five runs in the Cards' 6-4 triumph over Brooklyn. Yesterday he drove in three runs to lead the Red Birds to a 5-2 victory over the New York Giants in the National league's only scheduled game. The victory moved the third place Cards to within a game and a half of the pace-setting Brooklyn.

Meanwhile, the New York Yankees protected their two game edge over the Chicago White Sox in the American league race. The Yanks defeated the St. Louis Browns, 2-0 while the White Sox downed the Washington Senators, 5-3. The Boston Red Sox outlasted the Detroit Tigers, 9-7, in the only other game.

Breaks Up Duel

Jones clutch hitting broke up a pitcher's duel between Gerry Staley and the Giants' Larry Jansen. Jones doubled with two out and the bases loaded in the fifth inning to drive in three runs and break a 2-2 tie.

Big Vic Raschi turned in his seventh victory against one loss in blanking the Browns under the lights at Yankee Stadium. Raschi and lefty Ed Lopat have accounted for 14 of the Yanks' 21 victories.

Little Stubby Overmire who pitched for the Browns deserved a better fate. The Yanks broke a scoreless tie with two out in the sixth on a scratch hit by Hank Bauer and singles by Joe DiMaggio and Yogi Berra.

Joe Dobson, Billy Pierce and Harry Dorish held the Senators to four hits as the White Sox extended their winning streak to five games in a night game at Washington.

Dobson Weakens

Dobson allowed only one hit in five innings but weakened in the sixth when he walked two and served a home run ball to Gil Coan.

The Sox, with the aid of shoddy fielding, nicked Julio Moreno for four runs in the first three innings. Ed Robinson drove in two runs with a fly ball and triple.

Ted Williams snapped out of a batting slump pounding out a single, double and homer to help the Red Sox edge the Tigers. The Sox scored seven runs in the third inning but Williams' two-run homer in the seventh proved to be the deciding factor.

Willard Nixon, who climaxed the Sox' big third with a two-run single, gained credit for his second victory without a defeat. Dizzy Trout was the loser.

Kentuckian Now 'Man to Watch' In British Tourney

BULLETIN

PORTHCAWL, Wales, (AP)—Smiling Sammy Urzetta, the 25-year-old "baby" of the U. S. Walker Cup team, made his debut in the British amateur golf championship a victorious one today as he defeated Steve Tredinnick of England, 3 and 2, in a second round match played in a driving rainstorm.

Urzetta was preceded into the third round by Bill Campbell, a Walker Cup teammate from Huntington, W. Va., who won the first four holes of his match against Henry Howell of Wales and then coasted on to a 5 to 3 decision.

Bo Wininger of Pleasantville, N. J., racked up another American victory at the expense of C. D. Lawrie, a former Scottish champion, 4 and 3.

PORTHCAWL, Wales, (AP)—A husky Kentuckian with a molasses-slow drawl and nothing but a local reputation jumped overnight into the "man to be watched" role in the British amateur golf tournament.

Nobody was more surprised than Harreled Kirkpatrick when he advanced into the second round yesterday with a two-up victory over highly-touted Hobart Manley, the North and South amateur champion from Savannah, Ga.

He's Surprised

"I thought I'd just come over for the plane ride," remarked Kirkpatrick when he looked at first round pairings.

The 32-year-old father of three children from Owensboro, a coal mine executive, never played in tournaments more important than the Kentucky amateur and open until this week. He was a finalist in his state open last year.

But his victory over the long-driving Manley was no fluke. He reached the 16th tee one down. Then he put together three straight birdies to win going away. He toured the par 72 seaside Royal Porthcawl layout in a very respectable 70.

Wininger Gets Test

Bo Wininger, another American who has caught the fancy of the long-shot lovers, gets his first test today against C. D. Lawrie, a well-regarded Scottish player.

The handsome wool company executive from Pleasantville, N. J., tied the course record with a practice round of 69 during the weekend.

The American field of 29 was reduced to 19 when Dick Garlington of Atlanta scratched early today. He had drawn a first-round bye, and was slated to meet D. S. Maunsel of England. The reason for his withdrawal was not disclosed immediately.

Ben Hogan Sees Snead as New Open Champ

NEW YORK, (AP)—Ben Hogan, the 140-pound Texan who completed one of the greatest comebacks in sports history when he won the United States Open golf crown at Merion last June, says Sammy Snead has a good chance to capture the coming open at Oakland Hills June 14-16.

"They have added 40 bunkers in the fairways," said the man who almost lost his life in an automobile accident in February, 1949. "They have lengthened seven holes and it's a real good course for Snead."

Open Eludes Snead

The open is one tournament that always has eluded Snead. Three times he has been runnerup. In 1937 he finished second at the same Birmingham, Mich., course to Ralph Guldahl, losing by two strokes, 281-283. In 1947 at St. Louis, Snead tied Lew Worsham after 72 holes but bowed in the playoff, 69-70. In 1949, Snead faded at the end to finish in a second-place tie with Clayton Haefner.

Hogan will be after his third open. Besides winning the three-way playoff at Merion last year he scored at Riviera in Los Angeles with a record 276 in 1948.

May Take It Easy

He says he will lay off the game the day before the open and if he feels tired he may lay off for a day three days before the tournament.

Meanwhile, the entry list for the 1951 open closed last night with a record field of 1,480 golfers entered. The field will be whittled down in qualifying trials June 4.

Besides Hogan, the field includes nine past open champions, British open champion Bobby Locke, PGA champion Chandler Harper and the entire U. S. Walker Cup team, now competing in the British Amateur at Porthcawl, Wales.

There will be two age groups for boys and two for the girls, with singles and doubles events in each group, making a total of eight eevnts. All play will be conducted according to the official rules of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

No Entry Fee

No entry fee will be charged, balls will be furnished free, and medals will be awarded to the winner and runnerup in each event.

Boys and girls who wish to enter the tournament must sign their names on the bulletin board at the Seventh street tennis courts before Thursday, May 31.

The winners and runnersup in this tournament will compete in a district tournament against winners and runnersup of a similar tournament held in Rockford.

Winners Advance

The winners of the district tournament will be eligible to enter the national boys and girls championship tournament sponsored by the U. S. Lawn Tennis association.

Junior tennis center tournaments are held all over the United States under the direction of the USLTA and are sponsored by local civic organizations. This is the third consecutive year the Dixon Lions club has sponsored the local tournament.

CARDS SIGN WALLNER

CHICAGO, (AP)—The Chicago Cardinals of the National Football league today signed their third player from Notre Dame's 1950 football team, 230-pound guard Fred Wallner. Wallner, 23, is from Greenfield, Mass., and won three Irish football letters. Previously signed from last season's Notre Dame eleven by the Cards were center-captain Jerry Groom and halfback Bill Gay.

"SUGAR" KISSES MADAME AURIOL—Sugar Ray Robinson, middleweight champion of the world, kisses Madame Vincent Auriol, wife of the president of France, in Paris where he is goodwill "ambassador" for the Damon Runyon cancer fund. The fighter presented Madame Auriol with a $10,000 check from the fund after making a speech in French.

Sugar Ray Would Defend His Title in Europe--For a Price

PARIS—(AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson is willing to defend his middleweight championship over here—that is, for a price.

The price, says Manager George Gainford, is $90,000. Or at least $75,000.

The subject of a 160-pound title bout in London or Paris was raised after the middleweight king stopped Kid Marcel, the French champion, in the fifth round of a 10-round bout here last night.

Title Not at Stake

The championship wasn't at stake since both gladiators weighed in at a little more than 160.

London Promoter Jack Solomons was on hand to see the bout. Afterwards he talked with Gainford about a match between Robinson and Randolph Turpin, the British and empire middleweight titlist.

Gainford said he'd like to get $90,000 for Sugar Ray's first title defense but he might go down to $75,000. He said the next move is strictly up to Solomons.

Leave Paris Thursday

Robinson and his troupe will leave Paris Thursday for a Saturday night bout against Gene Wanes of Geneva.

This one is for money. Harlem's fighting businessman has done his bit for charity, donating some $8,000 of his purse last night to the French cancer fund. He kept one franc, approximately a third of a cent.

Ted Williams Looks for End Of Long Slump

BOSTON, (AP) — Ted Williams was somewhat "out of the dumps" today and maybe the rest of the Rex Sox will follow along and move into contention for the American league pennant—where most baseball followers think they should be.

A friend kiddingly reminded him, "Well you're batting more than .225 now."

Williams grinned in reply, "Yuh, but I'm not over .250 yet."

Smiles Are Few

Perhaps it was a bit lopsided but the smile was the first, over his batting, in some time.

The conversation was prompted by "the kid's" three hits in four times at bat yesterday.

All of them were to left field and the last of the three, his eighth homer of the season, provided the ultimate margin in Boston's 9-7 decision over Detroit's Tigers.

Williams, who has been in a prolonged batting slump, hadn't been able to get the ball out of the infield Sunday when the Sox were trampled 8-4 by the Tigers. His average dwindled to .226.

Average Zooms

His three hits yesterday, a double and a single in addition to the two run homer, jacked up his average to .247 which is some 100 points lower than you'd expect Williams to hat.

He denied, however, that he purposely hit to left field, explaining, "Those pictures were all outside and I hit with them. Usually they pitch me to pull and I have to pull to get a hit."

Williams shrugged off a reminder that Ty Cobb recently said Ted wasn't a good hitter because he refussd to hit to left field.

Graziano Still on Comeback Trail

MONTREAL, (AP)—The comeback trail is growing broader for Rocky Graziano, the hard-socking onetime middleweight champion from New York.

Rocky scored a third round knockout here last night over Johnny Greco, the Canadian welterweight champion. Graziano bounced off the ropes to land a right to the jaw, stopping Greco in 1:56 of the round.

Graziano weighed 161½. The Montreal fighter weighed 153.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

PITCHING: VIC RASCHI, YANKS—Shut out St. Louis, 2-0, on five hits to gain his seventh victory against one defeat.

Rednour Wins 2 Games for Steward Team

HINCKLEY—Steward's Vernon Rednour pitched two fine games last week to boost his team into the finals of the sub-district baseball tourney here.

In the first game, Rednour limited Sandwich to one hit while winning, 8 to 1, and then set down Maple Park, 4 to 1, on three hits.

Eastern Bowlers Just Miss Lead in ABC Team Event

ST. PAUL, (AP)—Two eastern bowling teams moved into the select group in the five-man event in the American Bowling Congress tournament last night. One team missed a tie for the lead by one pin.

The Allburn Florists of Erie, Pa., rolled into second place with 3,069 and the Wagner and Adler team of New York City climbed into fourth place with 3,042.

The Erie keglers, led by sponsoring and leadoff man Jimmy Allburn's 661 series, rallied from an opening 941 and posted scores of 1,059 and 1,069 to take over the runner up spot.

The Chicago team of C. B. O'Malley Inc. leads the team event with 3,070.

Ned Day and Buddy Bomar, who had been expected to threaten the leaders in the doubles fell far short with 1,170 when Day got only 587 and Bomar 583. Day hit 640 in the singles and Bomar 618 in the individual event. Day's all-event totals was 1,803, giving him a 10-year ABC average of 202 and 26 pins. Bomar finished with 1,816 in the all-events.

Highest singles series yesterday was 695 by Clarence Koshinski of Decatur, Ill. It came on games of 215, 244 and 236. Alfred Hunecke and William Rimcus of Elgin, Ill., had the tops in doubles with 1,256. Hunecke shot 639 and Rimcus 617.

HUBS DRUB DUKE GOLFERS

Rochelle's golf team literally poured it on Dixon's squad Monday afternoon at Dixon Country club.

The score was 16½ to 1½. It could have been worse, but not much. If Frank Marshall hadn't salvaged 1½ points with his 47-48—95 to split with the Hubs' Dick Palmer, who had 35-53—98, the Dukes would have been blanked.

It was humiliating enough as it was, however, with not a single Dixon player breaking 90 on his home course.

Scoring was on match and medal basis. Medal honors went to Rochelle's Dick Carter, who fired 42-40—82.

The summaries:

18-HOLE MATCHES

Cooper (R) 46-43—89, defeated Lovett (D) 49-46—95, 3 to 0.
Carter (R) 42-40—82, defeated Yount (D) 48-44—92, 3 to 0.

HUGH'S VIEWS of SPORTS
BY HUGH HOUGH

Art Bowers and Sam Owens, just back from the state track finals, had the formula. Now, they said, all we need are the boys.

THEY HAD WATCHED Wendell Phillips high school of Chicago romp off with the track championship on the speed of two colored flashes, Willie Stevens and Ira Murchison. This pair dominated the blue-ribbon section in the hurdles and dashes respectively and then supplied the spark for a second in the 880-yard relay. It all totaled up to 24 points, enough to win the affair.

"Two boys like that are all any coach needs to win that meet," Owens said. "Four firsts are good for 20 points and 20 points almost always is enough to take the championship."

IT ALL SOUNDED very simple. But both Bowers and Owens know that boys like Murchison and Stevens don't happen along very often. Once in 10 years would be a good average. And when they arrive in the same season, then it's bound to be a great one. One you couldn't blame a track coach for dreaming about.

He will be looking at the tough Rockford Blackhawks on Sunday, but right now, Ronnie Sitter is sitting on top of the Northern Illinois league baseball world as far as pitching effectiveness is concerned.

HE HASN'T ALLOWED a run in 18 innings now, and has given up only 6 hits during that stretch. Here is the way his pitching chart looks:

	IP.	AB.	R.	H.	ER.	ERA.	SO.	BB.
SITTER ...	18	59	0	6	0	0	10	4

ON THE STRENGTH of the lanky Dixon right-hander's pitching arm, the Reynolds club has been able to move to the top of the Northern Illinois league standings. They now hold a half-game edge over the Sycamore Sons, the only other undefeated team in the league, and the outfit that was idle in the seven-team loop last week. Here are the current league standings:

DIXON	2	0	1.000
Sycamore	1	0	1.000
Belvidere	1	1	.500
Blackhawk AC	1	1	.500
Rockford Mattress	1	1	.500
Genoa	0	2	.000
Kingston	0	1	.000

SUNDAY'S RESULTS

Blackhawks 8, Genoa 7.
Rockford Mattress 10, Belvidere 1.
Dixon 5, Kingston 0.
Sycamore not scheduled.

NEXT SUNDAY'S SCHEDULE

Blackhawk AC at Dixon.

He Just Likes to Eat . . .

INGLEWOOD, Calif.—(AP)—Flash Burn may not be the winningest hoss at Hollywood Park, but his trainer, Robert L. Anderson, will have you know he's the "eatin-est one in the whole park."

"He likes cake, he's nuts about doughnuts, really goes for vegetable soup, and tobacco—why, he's a slave to the weed," says Anderson.

* * *

"Of course, he hasn't learned to smoke, but he'll gobble up a whole sack of 'rolling' tobacco, but seems to prefer the juice brands. He eats it like candy bars, and of course, he likes candy, too."

* * *

Anderson explained that Flash Burn, an exceptionally good looker who really likes to run, has such a voracious appetite that he used to eat his straw bedding. So what does he sleep on now? Peat moss, no less.

Lack of Faith Complicates Medical Practice, Says Doc

CHICAGO, (AP)—Lack of faith in ourselves and our fellow man is behind "much of the so-called insecurity and emotional disturbances which today complicate the practice of medicine," a doctor said today.

The outgoing president of the Illinois State Medical Society, Dr. Harry M. Hedge of Chicago, told the society's 111th annual meeting that to attain needed faith, "we must re-formulate our ethical principles and restore honesty and sincerity, in both professional and public life."

Now At Low Ebb

"Since the days of Valley Forge," he declared, "there has been no period in our national history when our faith as a nation and as individuals sank to such a low ebb as it did in 1949, 1950 and 1951.

"Personal gain, personal aggrandizement, party favor, selfish intrigue and collective bargaining for undeserved favor were practiced and sought as a common end."

He said that as a result, many persons have become emotionally insecure and that this complicates the practice of medicine.

"Diseases which, under ordinary conditions, would yield to established forms of therapy," he stated, "have become more and more resistant and in many instances ended in a state with recovery almost impossible."

Many "Blue" Babies

Dr. Stanley Gibson, chief cardiologist at Children's Memorial hospital in Chicago, told the meeting that many babies are born with heart conditions which go unnoticed because the infants don't turn "blue" as do the so-called "blue babies."

The presence or absence of the "blue" symptom, he said, thus may become the factor by which the child lives normally or dies prematurely. When a baby is blue, its parents immediately seek surgical aid, he stated.

Surgery is even more successful in the group which has heart trouble but which doesn't turn blue, Dr. Gibson said, if performed in time.

Ten-Year-Old Missing, Quiz Coast Handyman

SANTA ANA, Calif., (AP)—A guitar-playing handyman, Henry Ford McCracken, 34, was still being grilled today about the disappearance last Saturday of 10-year-old Patricia Jean Hull.

Sheriff's Sgt. Boyd Sturgis said a witness had been located who saw McCracken take a little girl answering Patricia's description into a Buena Park auto court cabin late Saturday afternoon. Bloodstains were found in the cabin after McCracken's arrest.

But McCracken stubbornly maintained his innocense. He admitted he was at a children's movie matinee which Patricia attended, but he denied he had attempted to molest her in the theater or that he went to the cabin with her.

Undersheriff Steve DuHart said bloodstains were found in McCracken's cabin—on the bed, the mattress, a pillow, walls, the floor and on the shower floor, as well as in the shower drain.

Sheriff's Chemist Jack Cadman said the blood is not McCracken's and that he hopes to determine her blood type today through prespiration tests on clothing provided by her family.

A widespread search for the girl is continuing.

Sgt. Sturgis said that McCracken, held on suspicion of kidnaping, also had failed to register for Selective Service, and failed to register as a convicted sex offender.

Baseball Crowd Sees M'Arthur

NEW YORK, (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur was given a standing ovation last night by a huge crowd at Yankee Stadium, where he saw the New York Yankees defeat the St. Louis Browns, 2-0.

It was the second game he had attended since returning from Tokyo.

The Crowd roared a welcome as MacArthur, dressed in civilian clothes, walked to his box seat while the public address system blared out "old soldiers never die."

First Jet Ace Scores Wins in Battle He Should Have Missed

TOKYO, (AP)—They pinned the Distinguished Service Cross on the world's first jet ace today. The medal, second only to the Medal of Honor, brought joy to the aching body of Capt. James Jabara of Wichita, Kan.

Jabara hasn't played football for nine years, but he said he felt as if he'd been through 60 minutes of the "big game."

He's still stiff and sore from Sunday's air battle in which he destroyed two Russian-type MIG-15 jets to run his score to six.

"My back muscles are awfully sore," he said. In fact, I can hardly sit down, my fanny is so sore. The maneuvering required to match the evasive tactics of the MIGS pulls and strains you all over, even though the first lasts only five minutes."

Jabara, now in Japan as an instructor, was decorated today for dauntless courage in attacking numerically superior formations of Communist aircraft.

Plane Unbalanced

All this in a fight he shouldn't have been in, according to Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, public information officer of the Far Eastern air forces.

"Jabara won't tell you this," Nuckols said, "but when he reached the combat area and tried to drop his wing tanks, one wouldn't shake loose. That made his aircraft unbalanced and difficult to manage. He had to use two hands on the control stick. He should have returned to base immediately."

Credits Teamwork

The 27-year-old double ace—was credited with nine and one-half air victories over Europe in World War II—was graduated from high school in Wichita in May, 1942. He enlisted as an air cadet the same day.

He said teamwork was the basis for success in air combat.

"A good wingman is worth his weight in gold. When a leader sees the enemy he quits looking around and the wingman becomes his eyes and ears. He sticks to his target, and that's when he's most vulnerable."

He said the three "A's" of aerial combat are: Air discipline, aggressiveness and aerial gunnery. These must be combined with the bility to make decisions quickly—before a brief opportunity disappears."

As an instructor he expects to wash out many men—and save both their lives and their planes. But he said these men would be able to perform top jobs elsewhere in the many-armed air foce.

Mac Aide Sails

TOKYO, (AP) — Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, General MacArthur's intelligence officer for almost 10 years, today sailed for the United States and retirement.

Willoughby asked to be retired shortly after MacArthur was ousted as Far East commander. He said he wanted to help MacArthur.

He has been in the army 40 years, the last 14 in the Pacific and Far East.

Taft, Douglas Give Views on Foreign Policy

ARDEN, N. Y., (AP)—Senators Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) and Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) signified basic agreement last night on the government's broad policy of combatting Communism but voiced sharp disagreement over the proper means to achieve that end.

The two senators—mentioned as possible rival presidential candidates in 1952—spoke from the some platform at the opening session of the American Assembly, a gathering sponsored by Columbia university.

The Far East, said Taft, should be of primary importance because American troops are actually fighting there.

Europe "Vital"

Europe, said Douglas, was of "vital importance" because of population and industrial factors. But he said the administration was ready to aid the Chinese people against their Red masters.

Air and sea powers, Taft said, should be given priority in American armament plans.

But dominant air power, Douglas replied, has been unable to destroy Communist armies in Korea.

The U. S., Taft warned, has reached the limit of its defense spending and further expansion can spell national ruin.

Douglas agreed that the U. S. has approached its economic capacity, but he said the present margin of safety was "sufficient" although not tremendous.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Columbia president now on leave as Atlantic pact treaty commander, conceived the Assembly before which the senators spoke as a means of clarifying vital issues for the public.

Meet All Week

The assembly will meet all this week in roundtable discussions at a 96-room mansion on a mountain top near Arden. Presidential Adviser W. Averill Harriman gave the mansion to Columbia as a permanent home for the assembly.

Taft said the United States had risked war "over and over again" in Europe but would not take the same chance in Asia.

English threats to use troops in Iran to protect oil fields, Taft aded, also pose the danger of World War III.

He added that "we have to recognize" that American policy against Communism "involves a constant danger that Russia may begin a third world war."

Calhoun County's Oldest Resident Succumbs at 99

ALTON, (AP)—Jacob B. Ambrose, Calhoun county's oldest resident, died yesterday at the age of 99.

Ambrose, known as "Uncle Jake," would have been 100 years old tomorrow.

Ambrose, born in West Virginia, came to Illinois with his parents in 1865. He was 14 years old. He frequently recalled the John Brown raid and other incidents which preceded the Civil War.

Ambrose, who was married six times, amassed a fortune in the sheep raising business in Oregon where he went in 1883. He later returned to Greene county and became a leading businessman and land holder, but the depression of 1929 wiped out his holdings.

The American voter believes in fair play. The reception given General MacArthur is proof of this belief.

The undersigned Republican precinct committeemen openly endorsed Judge Harry E. Wheat, Judge Leon A. Zick and States' Attorney Morey C. Pires for nomination for Circuit Judges at the Lee County Republican Convention at Dixon on March 5, 1951.

In refraining from publishing the true facts about that convention, the Dixon newspaper has been unfair to the voting public, unfair to Mr. Pires, and unfair to each of us.

These are the facts.

The Dixon convention was held in the County Court room with the public present, and the doors open. The Court room was not smoke-filled. There were not any back room conferences before the voting. There was no attempt to prevent Mr. Bracken's name from being submitted. In fact, three of his supporters had the floor before any vote was taken, yet each refrained from mentioning Mr. Bracken's name. Thirty-three committeemen were present. Twenty-one voted for Mr. Pires, and eleven against him. Chairman Warner did not vote. Under majority rule, Mr. Pires was therefore Lee County's candidate and we selected and instructed the delegates to the Freeport convention accordingly.

None of us was forced, or compelled, or browbeaten, or promised or paid anything to vote for Mr. Pires. We have been well acquainted with him for a number of years. He has successfully submitted his name to the voters in Lee County in open primaries in the past. We believed at the County convention, and we believe now, that the majority of Republican voters in each of our precincts favor his nomination and election and that in all respects he is the best qualified and strongest Lee County candidate. His subsequent nomination at the Freeport convention confirmed our opinion.

The only pressure exerted on us came from the Dixon newspaper, which tried to force us to accept its candidate, Mr. Bracken. First, it wanted to substitute for our independent choice of a Republican candidate, the result of a poll of lawyers which included Democratic office holders and Democratic precinct committeemen. Then it threatened to run its candidate as an independent if we would not endorse him.

Any statement that we were browbeaten or compelled or paid to support Morey C. Pires is absolutely false.

Talk of a "Machine" or of "steamroller tactics" is absurd. None of the undersigned is obligated to any other member of the Committee, or to the Chairman or to anyone else, and each of the undersigned was free to vote and did vote exactly as he wished.

Committeeman Louis Grampp originally promised to support Mr. Pires. He changed his mind. He now holds a State job under State Treasurer William Stratton. Mr. George Shaw, editor of the Dixon newspaper, controls the distribution of Mr. Stratton's patronage in Lee County. It appears that Mrs. Louis Grampp, Lee County Republican Chairwoman, is now working in the interests of the Democratic candidate.

We believe the voting public should know these facts.

Vote the straight Republican ticket on June 4th.

. . . displaying flower arrangements in cemetery urns and baskets, as well as potted plants, has been the tradition of Americans on Memorial Day for many, many years.

It is a way of expressing sorrow, and deep sentiment for the loved ones who have left us.

A flower arrangement, or planting may say nothing, BUT, expresses more sentiment than words can compare.

LET US PLANT CEMETERY URNS AND BASKETS for you! Our plantings will have continuous bloom and color all summer, and will be chosen to best express your thoughts.

Farouk's Favorite? (Cairo Says No)

Elizabeth Ernst. Dark-haired, willowy Dawlath Soliman, an Egyptian torso dancer, caused quite a stir in Frankfurt, Germany, when she was billed as one of King Farouk's favorite entertainers. The Egyptian consul-general objected to use of the newly wed Egyptian king's name and called newspaper statements that Dawlath had thrilled the monarch "disrespectful."

Mr. Ben Shaw
Dixon Evening Telegraph
Dixon, Illinois
Dear Ben:

I have just completed reading your fine Centennial edition and want to congratulate you and your staff which produced it. It is a splendid demonstration of what can be accomplished by a progressive and aggressive newspaper, and it is not only a credit to your organization, but also to the entire community. The various departments and features are exceptionally well edited and the photographic work stands out remarkably fine.

We still have some twenty-two years to go before we are privileged to observe our Centennial, but we are looking forward to it and your edition has been filed away so that we may have the benefit of it when we start work.

Kindly express my appreciation for the edition to your mother and George.

Sincerely,
John R. Fornof

Dear Mr. Shaw:

I appreciate your thoughtfulness in sending me a copy of your centennial edition.

Shortly after the publication was received I went through it with interest and care. I would like to tell you that I think that it is the best edition of its kind that I have ever seen. This applies to the scope of the publication, the writing, the illustrations, the good cuts, the excellent press work and the advertising which is a tribute not only to the newspaper but to the community.

It will be a pleasure to see you when you come to Grand Rapids and it is my hope that you can join me in some shooting at Squaw Lake this fall.

With the best of personal good wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

My Dear Mrs. Shaw:

We were delighted with the panoramic history of Dixon over the past century, as brought to us by the Centennial Edition of The Telegraph.

We share the happiness and the satisfaction that this achievement must bring to George, Ben, Bob and your own good self.

As you know, a strong attachment prevailed between Benjamin F. Shaw, Eustace E. Shaw and my father. We have enjoyed the continuance of this family friendship through the years.

Dog Bites Man But More Than Par, Says Judge

NEW ORLEANS, (AP) — A court awarded $500 damages to James Arnold because a dog took more bites than he was entitled to.

The decree by Judge Godfrey Regan yesterday affirmed a lower court's decision but upped the award from $300 to $500.

Judge Regan said the record showed:

Mrs. Anders Paulsen's calf grazed in Arnold's bean patch. When Arnold refused to release it, Mrs. Paulsen appeared on the scene leading a dog on a leash. Mrs. Paulsen commanded "get him Brownie" and Brownie got Arnold with several large bites.

The contention that the dog "had enjoyed more than the customary one bite to which every dog seemed entitled under our jurisprudence" was borne out by testimony, Judge Regan's opinion said.

Mt. Carroll Man Electrocuted on Cedarville Job

FREEPORT, (AP)— John J. Lucas, 25, of Mt. Carroll, was fatally injured yesterday when he came in contact with a live wire while on a construction job.

Lucas, a lineman employed by a Pennsylvania firm, was atop a 40 foot pole at Cedarville, six miles north of Freeport, when he came in contact with a line carrying 7,200 volts.

Other construction workers lowered him to the ground where they applied artificial respiration until relieved by a fire department rescue squad, which failed to revive Lucas after four hours' efforts.

Better Breeding For Britons Is Plan of Bishop

LONDON, (AP)—Birmingham's aging, outspoken bishop, Dr. E. W. Barnes, last night urged over-crowded countries like Britain to think about breeding out their inferior human strains.

Long a controversial advocate of birth control, sterilization and population control, the 77-year-old Church of England bishop told the West London medico chirurgical society:

"To preserve inferior stocks as a population becomes excessive is to settle ourselves with an increasingly heavy social burden and probably lower the general quality of our people."

The world, he declared, faces a "most unpleasant, difficult problem from which professional men, doctors, ecclesiastics, and politicians alike turn aside."

Such defects as feeble mindedness, he said, "Will not be removed by transferring those people from a slum area to wholesome dwellings."

"The defeat remains. To eliminate it we must eliminate the stock where it has appeared. Is success in this elimination possible without sterilization or infanticide?"

Scouts to Make Pilgrimage to Ottawa Grave

OTTAWA, (AP)—More than 1,000 Boy Scouts ad their leaders are expected to attend the 16th annual pligrimmage to the grave of W. D. Boyce in Ottawa Avenue cemetery next Sunday.

Boyce, an industrialist, is credited with having brought the Boy Scout organization to this country from England in 1910.

His grave is now a Boy Scout shrine. It is marked by a bronze statue of a scout.

Rubber Halted

SINGAPORE, (AP) — British Malaya—which has sold more than 120,000 tons of rubber to Communist China since the outbreak of the Korean war—today announced the ban of any more shipments of that vital product to the Chinese Reds.

Lad Kills Self

ELMIRA, N. Y., (AP) — The body of 13-year-old George Silverstein was found hanging in a school locker room yesterday and Coroner M. E. Pitman pronounced the death a suicide.

Mrs. Gladys Thomas, head nurse of the city school system, said the seventh grade pupil had been reprimanded for gum-chewing and had not been allowed to take part in the gymnasium period.

The first trees as we know them appeared in the Permian Age 235,000,000 years ago.
